Since 1974, these cultured products have been used in kitchen and bathroom remodels, hotels, new residential builds, and commercial remodels for countertops, tubs, showers, and vanities.

HGHBA PET Project & Silent Auction To Benefit Grand Strand Humane Society At

The HGHBA PET Project and Silent Auction has been held annually for more than 30 years! The Silent Auction, Dog Adoption & Cat Adoption booths are located in "the heart" of the Home Show.

"We started small and over the years it's exploded" says HGHBA's Executive Officer, Rose Anne O'Reilly.

The HGHBA loves giving back to their community. Providing this platform for animals to be adopted and raising funds to support animal rescues like their charity this year Grand Strand cabinets, and much more the HGHBA members have donated when visiting the auction and maybe meet one of their members volunteering. GSHS needs help more than ever to continue their wonderful service to the Grand Strand community and their pets. They are in need of a new facility which is in the works to house and provide lowcost medical care for the thousands of pets in their care each year. They find loving forever homes for animals like the ones that will be at the show through adoptions.

"This year's auction is going to be one of the greatest yet" says Lesley Hill, President of SunCoast Building Products & Services, Inc., (The Gutter Experts), and chairman of the HGHBA PET Project for more than three years. "We have incredible volunteers, builders, subcontractors and a business community that always give their time and support to the HGHBA PET Project and Silent Auction."

"Every year we attempt to increase the amount donated and the number of animals adopted from this project and so far we have increased it by leaps and bounds on an annual basis", Hill added.

How can you help?

Give a rescue pet a home, volunteer. foster and donate. As a result of the rising costs of building the new facility, the record number of pets coming into the shelter and the need for low cost vet care, GSHS need funds to continue to operate and provide their services to the community.

New Ownership Offers Press. A One Stop Shop To

Market & Grow Your Local Business

Minuteman Press has been serving the Myrtle Beach area for over 20 years. Ken Holloway and his wife Anna are the third owners of this location after purchasing it in January 2023. Anna retired from being a pharmacist for over 30 years, the last 6 of which were in Myrtle Beach. Ken has been a business owner in Charlotte, NC and Columbia, SC for 15 years in the automotive industry.

One of the things Ken always struggled with was finding one company to help market and advertise his business. He would go to one company for printing, another for apparel, another for promotional products, etc. making his time as a business owner inefficient. When he had the opportunity to purchase Minuteman Press in Myrtle Beach, he had 15 years of knowing what business > owners were looking for. He set out to create a one-stop shop for business owners to market and grow their businesses all in one place.

Minuteman Press has over 50 years of experience in the print industry and is known for being a leader in the market nationally. There are 750 locations nationwide, which gives them tremendous buying power from various suppliers. The Myrtle Beach location can handle all projects from start to finish. They have four talented graphic designers on

Easton Industries The Art of Cultured Living

Easton Industries has been a true gemstone, doing something for the last 50 years that no other company can claim from Myrtle Beach to Charleston to the south and Wilmington to the north and to the west as far as Florence: manufacturing cultured marble and stone products.

"My grandfather originally owned the business and then my father took it over and owned it for 30 years," says third generation owner Cullen Marcis. "Since 2021. I've taken it over. We've been on the Grand Strand for a long time doing the same thing." The local, family-owned business has

"We manufacture everything here at our factory in Myrtle Beach at the same location it's always been, and then we also install our own product as well," says Marcis. "It's all done under one roof. We don't subcontract anything out from the tear-out phase for a bathroom or kitchen remodel to the install, to the manufacturing of the product. We do it all."

Marcis adds that his team of 20 local, longtime employees also service bathrooms in new builds by partnering with builders D.R. Horton and Lennar, who appreciates that Easton is local, experienced, and extremely efficient.

So what actually is Eastonite?

Owner, Cullen Marcis, helps a customer decide on which color to choose. Easton offers over 40 different colors to choose from. A helpful professional is always willing to assist in this process.

Easton Industries was the third business built on 17 Bypass in 1984. The showroom is located @ 550 Piedmont Ave. in Myrtle Beach (basically across from Coastal Grand Mall)

Easton Industries has manufactured cultured marble and Eastonite the same way since 1974. Pouring each cuctom piece Marcis explains that it is cultured granite rock broken down to a powder form that is then mixed with resin and acid, which liquefies that powder. Easton Industries then hand pours that over a casted mold of whatever it is that the homeowner wants.

"We're the true definition of a custom shop because we can move the rails around for different size shower walls, tops, and more," he says. "And we have over 35 different colors in the products to choose from, and we're actually going to be adding on 15 more to that soon."

Over the last five decades, Easton has perfected

the process of remodeling and installing. For kitchens, that involves an overlay of their product right over the homeowner's old, existing countertops, which can be completed in a day. For bathroom remodels, it takes two days from start to finish: tearing out, putting up mildew- and water-resistant sheet rock, installing the walls, hook up the plumbing and switch out to PEX piping if needed, and installing shower/tub/vanity. For new builds, it takes seven days from measuring to install.

Stacey Weaver hired Easton Industries to replace her old fiberglass tub/walk-in shower combo in her primary bath with a large, brand-new cultured marble walk-in shower. They also installed new vanities in the primary bath and guest bath.

"It was so easy working with Easton," she says. "It was easy to see throughout the entire project that they had a lot of experience and had been doing this a long time. They were able to customize what I wanted and made great use of the space I had to get me the perfect fit for my bathroom. They showed up on time, kept a very clean workspace, and delivered the finished products on time as they promised. Also, the pricing and process were clearly explained upfront, and their product is very durable and easy to clean. I have kitchen countertops that they installed in my home 18 years ago and they still look great!"

Dale Wadsworth also had Easton remodel their bathroom.

"They took out our bathtub and shower and installed cultured marble and custom glass," she says. "I was really happy with the team. They worked around our schedule and our work was perfect. I'd highly recommend."

Diane Middleton is a happy repeat customer, with Easton having remodeled her kitchen countertops, bath, and vanity top.

"And I had gotten estimates from several other contractors," she says. "The price and quality is why I picked them over the others – I'm very meticulous and particular. And because they manufacture their own product, I feel that puts them above other competitors. I liked the product because they are stain-proof, solid, and look great. I also didn't want a high budget with marble. I'll probably have another project coming up for them!"

This is exactly the kind of feedback third generation owner Cullen Marcis prides himself on – especially now that he's taken over Easton Industries. But becoming the next Marcis to run the company was never in his original career plan.

"From a young age, I was always into baseball, so that was my goal to take that as far as I could," he says. "I played at Carolina Forest High School and two years at Florence Darlington Technical College, but got hurt and came home, and just wanted to do something different here."

He volunteered with an Horry County fire department, followed by working for the City of Myrtle Beach. But once his wife was pregnant with their firstborn, he realized his growing family needed more income – and his dad was looking to retire.

"It was an opportunity for Easton Industries & the family by taking it over, so that's what we led to and worked to.' says Marcis.

However,

he didn't fill his father's shoes on his date of hire. Marcis started at the company in 2018 and worked his way to the top, beginning on the install crew to lead installer, to manufacturing, to shop manager, to general

"I'm proud to lead a company that has been doing this for over 50 years here because our product is a true stone product," he says. "There are a lot of competition that have come here recently, but it's all plastic materials – a lot stuff that we tear out. ... People always say how great the crew is, how respectful the crew is, and how they clean up after the job, and that goes a long way with customers."

in printing and textural technologies, Happy Floors has created porcelain tiles that replicate the look and feel of natural stone, marble, and even wood. These tiles offer not only breathtaking visual appeal but also the durability and low-maintenance benefits that porcelain is known for. This aligns with the growing demand for ecofriendly materials, as porcelain's extended lifespan reduces the need for frequent replacements, offering both an aesthetically and environmentally conscious choice.

Looking ahead, one of the trends of 2025 is a shift toward warmer color tones and biophilic design—bringing the outside in through nature inspired materials and earthy palettes. Happy Floors is unveiling new collections that reflect this trend.

Expect to see rich, earthy hues like terracotta, tranquil blues, and verdant greens alongside beautiful natural textures that evoke the serenity of the outdoors. These new collections feature intricate stone looks, wood-inspired textures, and organic patterns that add warmth and texture to any space, helping to create a more connected, calming environment.

raisals For What It's Worth

Why Traditional Appraisals from FWIWA Provide the Most Reliable Home Valuations

by Audria Wagenknech

When it comes to determining the true value of a home, the process should go beyond just a simple number.

Traditional appraisals, especially those conducted by experienced professionals like the team at For What It's Worth Appraisals, offer homeowners, buyers, and lenders the most reliable and accurate information about housing values and trends in the community.

At FWIWA, licensed appraisers perform detailed, on-site inspections of properties. They evaluate the home's condition, compare it to similar properties in the area, and gather up-to-date market data. This thorough, handson approach ensures that the home's value is based on real, relevant factors, providing a more accurate picture of what the property is truly worth.

One key benefit of traditional appraisals is the depth of insight FWIWA provides. Unlike appraisal waivers, which rely on automated systems and can overlook hidden issues, traditional appraisals involve physical inspections that can uncover potential problems with the home, such as structural damage or needed repairs. These factors directly affect the home's value and cannot always be captured by digital systems.

But the value of traditional appraisals extends beyond just the individual property. Appraisers at FWIWA have extensive knowledge of local markets and trends, which means their assessments provide valuable context for understanding broader real estate dynamics. By comparing your property to other recent sales in the area, appraisers can give an informed look at how home values are shifting in your community, helping you make decisions based on a clear understanding of market conditions.

While appraisal waivers may seem appealing due to their convenience and lower cost, they miss the critical personal touch and local expertise that appraisers at FWIWA offer. These professionals help maintain a transparent, accurate housing market by ensuring that valuations are based on real, thorough data — not just algorithms.

If you're buying, selling, or refinancing a home, choosing a traditional appraisal from For What It's Worth Appraisals gives you the peace of mind of knowing you're getting the most reliable and accurate valuation, grounded in real-world insights that can guide your decisions and better inform the housing market overall.
